INTRODUCTION

This chapter consists of five parts of subchapter. They are background of the research, problem statement, objective of the research, significant of the research, and scope of the research. Those parts will be described as follows:

1.1 Background

As a human being, we need a medium to interact with other people. That important tool that we need called language. Language has an important function to all societies because language is a way to interact with one person to another person especially in a communication. By communication, people can easily share information, express their ideas, and interact with others. Chaika (1994) stated that language cannot be fixed at any point. This means language naturally develops from time to the time because of the social conditions and the human's need.

There are two types of language that are used to communicate with others. Those types of language are formal language and informal language. Although both of them can be used to interact, but the use of those languages are extremely different. Formal language or also known as standard language is usually used in particular situations or contexts such as in a meeting, seminar, public speaking, and other formal events. In the other hand, informal language or non-standard language is often used in daily conversation, such as with parents, siblings, mates, and friends.

People sometimes use some unique words and phrases which they made and could be understood only by their groups. Those words and phrases are called slang. Based on Mish (2003), he said that slang is an informal nonstandard vocabulary composed typically of coinages, arbitrarily changed words, and extravagant, forced, and facetious figures of speech. Based on the explanation, slang is included in non-standard language as the sort of words and expressions which anyone might use in conversation or a letter, but which is not used in a speech or formal essay.

Slang is also considered as a unique words because only a certain group of people understand about it and sometimes it can be confusing because each group of person or region has their own slang words. Based on Burdova (2009), he stated that slang words and expressions are characterized by a high degree of informality, familiarity, vocabulary richness. They are realized by a specific group of people whose members are connected with some particular link, such as territory (American), age (teenagers), subculture (students), and mainly occur in the spoken form of the language. From such definition, we can conclude that slang is a new vocabulary that belongs to a particular group of people. Therefore, it makes slang words cannot be translated merely by seeing the actual meaning, but the understanding towards the contextual meaning is also really needed.

Based on Lyons (1984), contextual meaning is the meaning of words according to the situation in which they are used. It means that to understand the contextual meaning of the language, the words cannot be merely translated from dictionary but it should be seen from the context or the situation. There are also some aspects that should be considered in understanding the context of the slang words, such as the cultural and ecological environment of the words, language usage in environment, the time, and the way the speaker express their ideas, mind, and feelings.

Slang are often connected with idiom because they have a similiarity in definition, which is both cannot be translated from word by word and should be seen by the context. What makes them different based on Aurs (2018) are, idiom is composed from multiple words such as phrase and sentence and it comes from a normal word. Meanwhile slang, beside of being in the form of phrase or sentence, it can also from a single or special word. Beside that, idiom is widely used and understood in a wide society, while slang can only be understood by a particular people where it is made. But once a slang term or phrase is widely accepted into the culture and society and begins to be used and understood by a lot of people, it starts to become an idiom as well.

Based on Aris (2015), he stated that the use of slang is growing rapidly than a standard language. This happens because people would prefer using slang in daily conversation rather than formal language because it makes their communication more colorful, more appropriate, funnier and friendlier. With this rapid development, it gives the writer ideas and encouragement to analyze more about slang words.

The media used for this research is a movie. These days, movie becomes familiar in people's life. Frommer and Finegan (2004) said that slang terms are often found in movies and music reviews, lifestyle pieces, and people columns. The other consideration is because the conversation in the movie really happen in the real situation and it will make it easier to analyze the slang words used in the movie.

In this research, movie that are analyzed is Deadpool 2 which was released in 2018 by David Leitch. It is an adaptation movie from comic with the same title Deadpool in 1991. Deadpool has released two movies so far titled Deadpool 1 and Deadpool 2. This thesis only uses Deadpool 2 movie instead of Deadpool 1 because it is more recommended to use a recent source as the media to analyze. Deadpool 2 is an R-rated movie which is restricted for children because of the violence, sexual content, and harsh language.

This movie is a popular super hero movie that has an interesting story and a unique main character that is Deadpool himself. Deadpool is a rude, vulgar, and a humorous character that express himself freely by speaking blatantly in a lot of slangs. Deadpool never claims himself as a super hero, in fact, he was a New York mercenary who worked as a paid man that persecuted a bad guys for a quick and relatively easy buck. With those characteristics and background story, slang becomes part of his daily conversation.

This movie has funny and hilarious dialogues and the other characters express a lot of slangs as well. However, it will be hard to understand the movie if we do not learn more about the meaning of the slang words they use. In this thesis, the writer analyzed more deeply about the contextual meaning of the slang words and categorized the slang words based on their types.

Based on the background above, the study of slang words in the movie Deadpool 2 is very interesting to analyze. In this case, thesis that are analyzed is titled An Analysis of Slang Words in Deadpool 2 Movie Directed by David Leitch.

1.2 Problem Statement

Based on the background study above, there are problems related to the study which leads to the following research questions:

1.2.1 What is the contextual meaning of slang words used in Deadpool 2 movie?

1.2.2 What are the the types of slang words used in Deadpool 2 movie?

1.3 Objective of the Study

Related to the problem statement above, the writer hopes to achieve some objectives, as follows:

1.3.1 To explain the contextual meaning of the slang words used in Deadpool 2 movie.

1.3.2 To classify the types of the slang words used in Deadpool 2 movie.

1.4 Significance of the Study

1.4.1 Theoretically of Significance

Theoretically, this research is expected to enrich the comprehension of the reader about slang words in contextual meaning and also can help the reader understand about the types of the slang words used in Deadpool 2 movie. This research is also intended to support the theory that is used to analyze this research.

1.4.2 Practical of Significance

Practically, this research can be used as an additional reference for other students, especially for English Department student of Fajar University about slang words. Moreover, it can also be used in informal context of daily conversation.

1.5 Scope of the Study

This research analyzes Deadpool 2 as the media of the research. The movie released in May 2018 and directed by David Leitch. This study only focuses to analyze the slang words used by the characters in the movie. Afterwards, the slang words are explained from the contextual meaning and categorized by the types.

CHAPTER II

LITERARY REVIEW

There has been many researches related to slang words from any kind of aspects. In this case, there are three main focus of this study. They are contextual meaning and the types of the slang words. In exploring them, it has some discussion related to this research whereas this chapter clarifies the previous related studies and its theoretical background; semantic, pragmatic, language variation, slang, types of slang, characteristic of slang, and About Deadpool 2 Movie. Those parts are described as follows:

2.1 Previous Study

There are some researches related to this study. Three of them will be reviewed below. The first study was done by the student of Sebelas Maret University, Lastika Ary Prihandoko (2012), titled An Analysis of Slang Words Used by the Characters in Ramona and Beezus Movie. In this research, she analyzed the types of slang words and function of the movie. Sociolinguistic is applied as the frame of the study. The result of the research is there are five types of slang and seven different slang function employed by the characters in Ramona and Beezus movie.

The second previous study was done by the student of Islamic University Sunan Ampel Surabaya, Vida Septiana (2017), titled An Analysis of Lexical and Contextual Meanings in Christina Perri's Song Lyrics. The object of this study is five songs of Christina Perri from different album. The research study about kinds of meaning specifically in lexical and contextual meaning used in the song. The result of the research is she found that the lexical and contextual meaning of the songs are completely different and to know the song really well it is needed to understand the contextual meaning as well.

The last previous study is Analysis of Flouting Maxim Done by Main Character of Deadpool 2 by Edwin Adhityawan Hidayat (2018) from Airlangga University. This research focuses in identifying the types, strategies, and functions of flouting maxims that happens in Deadpool 2 using Cutting and Austin's perlocutionary effect theory. The result of the research are all types of flouting maxim are found in the movie. Moreover all strategies of flouting maxim are present. As for the function of the maxim all are present except for alarming, surprising, and enlightening.

Based on the previous studies above, we can conclude that there have been several researches related to the proposal of An Analysis of Slang Words in Deadpool 2 Movie Directed by David Leitch. Similiarly to the first and the second study, this proposal is also analyzing about the slang words from contextual meaning. However, this proposal uses another media in analyzing the data. Instead of using Ramona and Beezus Movie and Christina Perri's song which was used by the first and second previous studies, this proposal uses Deadpool 2 movie directed by David Leitch as the media. This proposal is also has similiarity to the third study above where they use the same movie, which is Deadpool 2. But the third study focuses more on analyzing the strategies of flouting maxim, while this proposal focuses on contextual meaning and the types of slang words.

2.2 Theoretical Significant

2.2.1 Semantic

Semantic is the technical term used to refer to the study of meaning and since meaning is a part of language, semantic is also a part of linguistic. Based on W. Kreidler (1998), semantic is the systematic study of meaning and linguistic semantic is the study of how language organize and express meanings. It means that meaning in linguistic semantic is very needed for us to limit ourselves to the expression of meanings in a single language.

To understand language, people should study about semantic because they need to know the meaning of the words and the morphemes that is a combination to form a phrase or sentence. The meaning should be interpreted in the context in which they are made. Chaer (2007) stated that kind of meaning include a lexical, grammatical and contextual meaning, referential and non referential meaning, denotative and connotative meaning, conceptual and associative meaning, and lexeme.

2.2.2 Pragmatic

Every words that are said by people does not always consist of only one meaning. Beside of having a literal meaning, which is the meaning that can be found in the dictionary, some words can also have a multiple meaning depending on the situation or the intention of the speaker. Based on Cutting (2008), pragmatic approach deals with studying the relation of language with contextual background. People's intention of the meaning is mostly related with the context or the situation of the words. This means to understand the meaning of the language, it is also important to see the context of the language because each person can have their own interpretation.

The focus of pragmatic as the approach is finding out the intended meaning providing by the speaker which relies on the context. It means that the meaning can be found or interpreted by looking at the context or situation during interaction. This is related to what Leech (1983) stated that pragmatic can be usefully defined as the study of how utterance have meaning in situation. People usually say something in which what they say does not semantically have the same meaning as what they mean. Speakers have purpose by uttering something related to the context or situation where the conversation took place.

Based on Carrol (1985), pragmatic is study the use of language in communicative interaction. The context can be divided into four subparts. Firstly, physical context that is where the speaking and what action takes place and what object are present. Second, epistemic context is background knowledge shared by speech participant, the speaker and hearer. Thirdly, linguistic context is about utterance previous to the utterance under the consideration. The last, social context is the social relationship and setting of interactive participant.

Therefore, studying language by pragmatic approach can lead to a deep analysis of what message that the speaker brought in their words. It gives advantages that someone can talk about people's intended meaning, their assumptions, their purposes or goals, and the kinds of actions performed in utterance.

2.2.3 Contextual Meaning

Contextual meaning is determined through its contextual use. Based on Pateda (2001), he stated that contextual meaning could also be regarded as a situation meaning. It means a different situation can give a different meaning. A contextual definition is also a definition in which the term is used by embedding it in a larger expression containing its explanation.

Contextual meaning defines as the meaning of a lexeme or word inside a context. However, the contextual meaning could be regarded to the situation, the time, and the language usage in environment. It will gives the reader/listener clues to the denotative (literal or specific) and connotative (interpreted or emotional) meanings of words.

It arises as a result of the relationship between speech and context. It took the form of a lot of things. There are some contexts, the first is context organs, including those relating to gender, position the speaker, the speaker or the listener age, socio-economic background speaker or the listener. The second is context of the situation, such as situation is safe or noisy situation. The third is context purposes, such as asking or expecting something. The fourth is context of whether or not a formal conversation. The fifth is context of the speaker or the listener's mood, such as afraid, excited, upset, or angry. The sixth is time context, such as night or day. The seventh is place, such as at school, at home, in the field, etc. The eighth is object context, which means the focus of the conversation. The ninth is context fitting, whether speak or hear the speaker or the listener. The last is linguistic context which meets the rules of the language used by both sides.

Based on Firth (1930) in Parera's book (1990), he said that if we regard language as 'expressive' or communicative' we imply that it is an instrument of inner mental states. And as we know so little of inner mental states, even by the most careful introspection to the language problem, become more mysterious the more we try to explain it by referring it to inner mental happenings which are not observable. By regarding word as acts, events, habits, we limit our inquiry to what is objective in the group life of our fellows.

Based on the Firth's view above, it could inherit the context of thinking about the situation in the analysis of meaning. Theory contextual has the meaning of a word tied to the cultural and ecological environment to use that particular language. This theory also indicates that a words or symbol utterances have no meaning if it regardless of context.

Contextual meaning has a number of different interpretations since speaker expressing their ideas, minds, and feeling. The interpretation have to do in the study semantic. For example the word head in the sentence "As head officer, she has to be on time." Based on contextual meaning, head in this sentence means someone who is in charge of the office or like the leader of an organisation or company. However, head in the lexical meaning will be translated as a part of the body that contains of eyes, nose, lips, etc. In this case, we use the contextual meaning because based on the situation and condition it is more suitable to translate it based on contextual meaning.

2.2.4 Slang

Language is always changing, evolving, and adapting to the needs of its users. As long as the needs of language users continue to change, so will the language. Language variation appeared because of the use of single language which is different within a single community. For example men do not speak like women and older people do not speak like younger people. There are two types of language variation mentioned as follows:

2.2.4.1 Formal Language

Formal Language is primarily a written style, occasionally used in public speeches of a serious or ceremonial nature, such as in oral report to the class, thesis, application letters, research or seminar. Formal language has some characteristics, they are:

- a) A serious attitude toward the subject and the reader
- b) Conservative grammatical usage which tends to observe distinction often ignore at a less formal level
- c) An extensive vocabulary that makes a liberal use of learned words and avoid acronym, contraction, colloquialism, and slang
- d) Relative long and involve sentence

2.2.4.2 Informal Language

Informal language is used in daily conversation. It is used by the member of family in their conversation and a letter to close friend, by truck drivers with cafeteria servant and etc. The basic differences between formal and informal language are stated as follows:

- a) Formal English is typically written English; introduce language of report, memoranda, articles, editorial and announcement.
- b) Informal English is typically spoken English, we speak and write informally when we are with friends, family, people we know whenever we are at ease

Considering to the statement above, we can say that slang belongs to informal language since it has the characteristics of informal language. Eventhough a lot of people use slang words, but only a certain of people can understand it because each group of people or region has their own slang.

Based on Claire (1998), slang is a term that is used by people in social situation where they feel comfortable with their friends. Slang is usually used to make an intimacy between one person to another so that they can feel more closed each other among their own group speech. Therefore, slang is considered to be very informal and it is often restricted to special contexts or only used by a particular class, profession, social group, etc.

Walter (2004) defined that slang is words used in very informal conversation, unsuitable for the formal situation. That makes most of slang expressions are spoken, not written and would be considered inappropriate in formal types of communication.

The use of slang words can be affected by some social factors such as age, gender, status, etc. Holmes (2001) stated that slang is another area of vocabulary which reflects a person's age. Furthermore, slang is a variety of language that is used by a restricted part of the population, often younger or "less respectable" than the majority. Slang is also considered as below the level of standard educated speech.

Slang is a variety of language that is used by a restricted part of the population, often younger or "less respectable" than the majority, and it is based on a very informal or very innovative lexicon that often replaces other words available in the general lexicon. It can be seen from teenagers who use slang to create identity in order to be different or to freely express their emotion. Sometimes the slang words are not understood by people who are not familiar with them.

Slang appeared for the first time in sixteenth century in Britain and at that time seem impossible that slang did not extend as widely through society than as it does today, but those early slang collections, more glossaries than dictionaries, concentrate purely on the villain's vocabulary.

In sixteenth century, the english crimainal was developed and created a new kind of speech used by criminals and cheats. This situation happened mostly in saloon or gambling houses. The English of Criminal had either originated in Romania or French, but it surely has developed through times.

Based on the data, there are four million people who spoke English, but only about ten thousand of them spoke the English of Criminal. By the end of the 16th century, this English of Criminal style of speaking was considered to be a language “without reason or order”.

Based on Patridge (2006), there are five decades on history of slang. The first decade was in sixteenth century where slang for the first time appeared in the society and became the strange language, also only particular group using it. For example, thieves, beggar, criminals, etc. The second decade was in seventeenth century. In this century, slang rich of metaphors or figurative language and related to immoral action. Moreover, slang began to present in popular plays event and put the slang words on the stage for the first time, such as; in Richard Brome’s comedy A Fovial Crew and in one of William Shakespeare’s poem in the word hick.

The third decade was in eighteenth century. The rhetoricians had established for the first time, among the pupils and schoolmasters alike, a key element in social conceptualization of slang. Furthermore, slang recognized as part of English vocabulary. The fourth decade was in nineteenth century. In this century slang was growing. It could be seen that the intellectual produced the first slang dictionary in 1899. The World War I and II also influenced in slang words, such as G.I, Pissed off, brass, etc. The last century was in twentieth century. Slang became a part of spoken language and not only used by thieves or criminals but also used by ordinary people, and slang was used in daily conversation because simpler and easier to speak it.

From the definition above, we can conclude that slang is a new vocabulary that belongs to a particular group of people related to informal conversation and used in informal situation. Slang is an informal language that is filled by new words, or old and current words, or phrases to create a new meanings. It is often used by youth people or groups and sometimes reflects the social background of the speaker.

2.2.5 Types of Slang

Allan and Burridge (2006) stated that there are five different slang types. The explanation of slang type can be seen as follows:

2.2.5.1 Fresh and creative

In his book, he said that fresh and creative mean that slang words has imagination, cleverness, informal variety, new vocabulary, or an up to date words. Fresh refers to slang expression that are produced by new words, which are different from the existing word. Meanwhile the creative means it needs the creativity of the creator. The creator is encouraged to produce new terms, which are imaginative, innovative, productive, even shocking and amusing. Some words which are already familiar with our mind possibly will be slang words as we not realize it. Those slang words become famililar in our mind because they are already appeared since 18th century. The example is the slang word daddy. Daddy (noun) used as a term of address for a man, especially an older man.

2.2.5.2 Flippant

Flippant means that slang words made by two words or more in which the words composed not correlated with the denotative meaning. The example is break a leg. The slang word break a leg means good luck for an actor. It is theatrical superstition consider a wish of good luck to be tempting fate. This slang word comes from folk-etymology that offers the example of American actor John Wilkes Booth who assassinated President Abraham Lincoln. The assassin jumped on stage and broke his leg. Unlikely, it is remembered in use in the 1930s and is suspected to be of English origin.

2.2.5.3 Imitative

3.1 Research Design

In conducting this research, the methodology of the research is descriptive qualitative. Based on Johnson and Christensen (2004), he said that research does not give the numeral or statistics but it depends on how is the knowledge of the researcher in analyzing the data. Based on the explanation, qualitative research is used because the result of this research is designed from the process of analyzing, discussing, and finding a social phenomena which occurs naturally. ### 4.2.1 Contextual Meaning

In understanding the meaning of the slang words, it cannot be seen only from the dictionary but an understanding towards the contextual meaning is also really important. The meaning of the slang words can be vary depending on the context of those words. The context of the words consisted of the situation, cultural background, how and when the speaker say the word, ecological and language environment. These aspects have a big impact in affecting the meaning of the slang words.

Therefore, we should understand the context first to understand the meaning of the slang words. These are some slang words found in the movie with the contextual explanation to understand the meaning of the words better. These words are:

4.2.1.1 Cunt

The word cunt in dictionary means vulva or vagina. These days, the word used as one of the most hateful and powerful verbal abuse that someone can say to insult other people. The use of this word occurred in the conversation of Cable with Deadpool below.

Deadpool : "Wait, wait, wait! I wanna do mine over. Give us the line again."

Cable : "I need your help! Trust me, I'm even less happy about this than you are... but you unleashed the Juggernaut, you dumb cunt!"

The word cunt in this dialogue used as an insult to Deadpool because he helped and released the enemy. This made Cable mad to him because the enemy was actually the one who killed his daughter. He also added the word "dumb" in front of the word, making it a double insult to show how mad he was. It is also clear from the intonation that Cable said that word with an emphasis and shouting. The facial expression also showed that he was in anger while saying the word.

This indicates that the word cunt in this dialogue used as an offensive term to address a contemptible person, especially when the speaker is in a furious state.

4.2.1.2 Fuck

Based on Hargrave (2000) in his study of the attitudes of public, he found that fuck was considered the third most severe profanity or curse. It is also the most used cursed words by America includes its various forms that can be used as a noun, verb, adjective, interjection, or adverb. The literal meaning of fuck is to have sex with someone, but as time flies the word has been changing in various meanings. The use of this word occurred in many dialogues in Deadpool 2 movie.

JEREMY : “Now, leave me. Go home, Wade.”

DEADPOOL : “I don't have a home, Weas, you know. I got a... Fuck! Okay, I'm fine. I'm fine.”

The word “fuck” in this dialogue was used as an exclamation indicating frustration, pain, disappointment, and anger. This situation happened when Deadpool was left out by his girlfriend who died after got killed by his enemy. In the movie, Deadpool was sitting in his friend's bar with his face buried onto his hands, looking so miserable. In this scene, he blamed himself with his girlfriend death. The word fuck is used to express his intense emotion of his sadness.

In the other hands, the word “fuck” can also used to express annoyance, contempt, disgust, impatience, or dismay towards someone. This shows in the dialogue below.

DEADPOOL : “Fuck superheroes.”

RUSSEL : “Fuck everyone. The first thing I wanna do when I get out of here... burn the headmaster alive.”

DEADPOOL : “Who says prison isn't reformative?”

RUSSEL : “Tomorrow, we'll find the biggest guy in here... and we'll make him our... What was that?”

In this scene, the word “fuck” specifically used to show hatred towards someone. Deadpool and Russel was in the position where they felt uncomfortable with people around them and the situation where they were in. Deadpool was already known that he never wanted to be a superhero and hated to be one while Russel had a problem with his orphanage's headmaster who like to abuse him. With this background story, their annoyance and contempt is shown through the conversation by using “fuck” as a cursing.

Slang word is always growing and developing over time. Therefore, one slang word can have a various forms with different meanings. The meaning is different depending on the situation or the context of the word. This case applies in the word “fuck”. The word “fuck” develops to various forms with many different meanings. For instance, the words found in the movie are fucking, fucked up, fuck off, fucker, motherfucker, as fuck, do not give a fuck, and f-word.

DEADPOOL : “Start the car! Start the fucking car Dopinder!”

DOPINDER : “Oh, I shit my pants.”

DEADPOOL : “Actually, that may have been me.”

The word “fucking” is used as an emphasize of the statement, especially in the angry way. In this scene, Deadpool was chased by a bunch of guy who were his enemies. He ran to Dopinder’s car, who was also known as a taxi driver, before throwing himself through the window of the car. He shouted to Dopinder who were busy with his radio in an angry and frustated way and used “fucking” in the middle of the sentence to indicate an emphasis of his word in order to tell Dopindor that he had to start the car right now before his enemies caught him.

DEADPOOL : “I don't have a home, Weas, you know. I got a... Fuck! Okay, I'm fine. I'm fine.”

BUCK : “You know what "fine" stands for, Wade? Fucked up, insecure, needy, and emotional.”

DEADPOL : “Jesus Christ, Buck! No more speaking lines for you.”

The word “fucked up” here means routinely makes huge mistakes or something disturbing or wrong. It was said by Deadpool’s colleague who were at the same pub when Deadpool was in grieve after his girlfriend death. His friend assumed that eventhough Deadpool said that he was fine but the fact is he still blamed himself for thinking it was him who made the mistake of his girlfriend death.

This assumption, that actually true, triggered him to be mad at his friend.

RUSSEL : "There are open fires. Fuck off! Stay back! I'll burn you!
You stay back! Get away from me!"

This scene showed an absolute chaos where Russel was surrounded by police and reporter. He was in the state of anger where he took out all of his power in both of his hands and made a commotion to his surrounding. He shouted to all people around him to "fuck off" which means to go away. He threatened people who got close to him with his fire hands, telling them to go away from him or he will burnt them.

CABLE : "On your fucking knees!"

DEADPOOL : "What did I do to piss off a grumpy old fucker with a Winter Soldier arm?"

This is the scene where Cable showing up for the first time. He broke through the prison where Deadpool and Russel were there. He went there so he can catch and kill Russel. The word "fucker" in this dialogue is used by Deadpool as a rude adress to Cable who made all the mess. Deadpool still did not know what was the real problem and the reason why Cable made all the mess so he expressed his annoyance by calling him a fucker.

GUY IN MASK : Let's kill this motherfucker!

Similar with fucker, the word motherfucker is also used as an offensive or rude term to call someone. The word mother is used as a more extreme insult where there is an accusation of incest. The guy in the mask was one of Deadpool's enemy who was chasing after him. The guy asked his other friends to catch and kill Deadpool together.

DEADPOOL : "My world tour brought me home to this guy, Sergei Valishnikov. But we'll get to him in a moment. coz I know what you're thinking. "I'm so glad I left the kiddos at home." But that's where you'd be wrong. That babysitter of yours is high as fuck right now... and, believe it or not, Deadpool 2 is a family film."

It was at the beginning of the scene where Deadpool doing a monologue as if he talked to the viewers. The meaning of high as fuck in here used to refer to someone who is under the influence of drugs especially marijuana. In this monologue, Deadpool was trying to make a joke by telling the viewers not to trust their babysitter because they could probably do drugs while taking care of the children. It was a joke obviously, but the word "as fuck" in here was used as an emphasis and exaggerating of the sentence.

CABLE : "Why are you protecting the kid?"

DEADPOOL : "I don't give a fuck about him..."

The reason on why Cable came from the future is to get his revenge to the guy that killed his daughter. Deadpool who did not know about the situation still considered Cable as the enemy. The word “I dont give a fuck” that Deadpool used towards Cable is a ruder way of saying i do not care. Deadpool was still thinking that Cable was someone who wanted to murder a kid and he did not like the idea of that. Therefore, his manner when talking to Cable was impolite and rude.

DEADPOOL : “So weird. Family was always an F-word to me. My pile of shit father took off and bailed.”

VANESSA : “Hey. Look at me. You are not your father.”

F-word is a short form of fuck word which also means a curse word. Family as an f-word means that Deadpool never believe in the value of the family and never think of having one. Not until Vanessa, his girlfriend, asked him to have a baby and make a new family with her. The reason on why Deadpool did not believe in family is because of his childhood memories. His father often abused him when he was child. So for Deadpool, family is not more than just a curse word.

PRISIONER 1 : “What the fuck do you want? That's my fucking pudding.”

PRISIONER 2 : “Fuck your pudding!”

What the fuck in this scene used not as a question that needed answer but used as an expression to show an extreme confusion with the situation that happened. Usually it is an expression of disagreement. In this scene, the first guy did not agree when his pudding was taken from another guy so he used the words “what the fuck” as his exclamation to emphasize his surprise and shock as he did not agree his pudding stolen by someone. The other similar expression found in the movie are what the hell, what a dick, and what in the ass. Those words have a similar purpose and meaning.

4.2.1.3 Shit

Shit is the most flexible swear word next to fuck. It can be used in a number of different ways such as verb, noun, adverb, etc. Shit is also more acceptable to use in public and TV because in literal meaning it only means feces and not anything vulgar.

DEADPOOL : “What in the fuck knuckles is this?”

NEGASONIC : “She's my girlfriend, you intolerant shit.”

DEADPOOL : “Whoa! Pump the hate brakes, Fox & Friends.

I'm just surprised anyone would date you. “

Shit is often used as an insulting term to a contemptible or unpleasant person. Deadpool and Negasonic is already known to have a bad relationship where both of them like to tease or mock at each other. In this scene, Negasonic brought her girlfriend and introduced her for the first time. Deadpool started to tease her again so Negasonic called him intolerant shit since it was a same sex relationship where not all people can still accept it.

COLOSSUS : “You've been sleep for three days. I took the liberty of dressing you.

DEADPOOL : “No shit. Why can't I fucking die?”

In the other case, shit can also used to express a suprise, disgust, or anger. It shows in this conversation when Colossus have to dress Deadpool because he had been slept for three days in a row. The idea of Colossus changing his clothes creeped him out and he expressed it by using the curse word “shit”.

Another expression using shit as a slang word also develop into many forms with many different meanings. Those words found in the movie are shithole and piece of shit.

DEADPOOL : “You got no family. I didn't have a family, either. You live in this dump. Guess what? I used to live in a shithole just like it.”

In this scene, Deadpool was having a monologue where he talked and introduced himself to the viewer. He was telling them about all the strunggle he had been through including the place where he had lived and grown up. Shithole in this sentence means a really bad or horrible place or building. Deadpool was growing up and spending most of his time in the gang where he lived in a lower education and economic environment. This is also one of the reason why he often used a dirty slang words in his conversation.

DEADPOOL : “That piece of shit... he deserves to die for what he did to you. He hurt you badly.”

RUSSEL : How do you know what I want?

“The peice of shit” is used to adress someone who is totally or utterly worthless and contemptible. In this case, Deadpool referred it to the Russel’s headmaster who like to abuse kids in the orphanage. In order to calm Russel from his anger, Deadpool had to take his side by calling that old man with a rude call.

4.2.1.4 Dick

Addressing someone by using a genital name such as dick is often used in America. This happened because this word is considered vulgar and have a strong effect to insult someone. Dick as a slang is often used to refer someone who like to do silly thing in order to annoy someone.

4.2.1.5 Prick

Prick has a similiar meaning with dick which is a penis. The word prick as a penis was probably created because of the image of a thorn in mind from the shape and the image of penetration. This word in the slang is also used as an offensive term to call someone a fool. It was shown in the dialogue below:

DOMINO : “Where did the rest of the team land?”

DEADPOOL : “Good news and bad news. Bad news is the whole team is dead. The good news is, I don't think anyone's gonna miss Shatterstar. He was a bit of a prick.”

Deadpool called Shatterstar as a prick because in the previous scene Shatterstar was stating that he was basically better than Deadpool at everything. It sort of insulted him so Deadpool secretly had a grudge towards him and started to call him a prick even after his death.

4.2.1.6 Douchebag

The slang douchebag comes from the literal meaning of douchebag which is a type of syringe for douching or washing the vagina for hygienic and contraceptive purposes. Ironically for its feminine and misogynistic past, douchebag now is using as a mocking term for men, especially a particular kind of man.

4.2.1.8 Asshole

Asshole is made up from two words combined together. Those words are ass and hole. The word ass can have two meanings, it can be a donkey or a buttocks. But both of these words are having a negatif connotation that can be used to insult someone.

DEADPOOL : “Wait. One of the assholes who killed Vanessa got away.”

COLOSSUS : “Oh, Jesus Christ! Wade, whoever they are... we track them down and bring them to justice.”

DEADPOOL : “It was me. I'm the asshole who got away. I killed every last one of them, except me. Couldn't kill me. We were gonna start a family. We were, uh... We were gonna be a family.”

In this scene, Deadpool was still having a mental breakdown after his girlfriend died. He still blamed himself after her death and assumed that happened because of him. Deadpool called himself as an asshole because he presumed himself as a stupid and contemptible person who let that happened.

4.2.1.9 Moron

This word came from the scientific community who categorized cognitive disabilities into three types. Those are idiots, imbeciles, and the moron. This word then used as a mockery to someone in order to insult them.

CABLE : "I'm not a fucking racist, moron!"

DEADPOOL : "Tell that to Black Tom. He was like a brother to me."

Deadpool was keep calling Cable as a racist because there is a scene where Cable asked Dopinder to turn off his indian music. Cable who cannot accept being called by that as he did not mean it that way used another called to insult him back. The word moron in this dialogue is as an expression of his displeasure towards Deadpool's action and behaviour after calling him a racist.

Cable is someone who came from the future to take his revenge to someone that killed his family. When he just came, he did not know what time exactly it was as the time mechine did not specifically show that. The word badass was originally used by slave master as a call to scold his slaves after disproving his obey or doing something bad. The term came from the words bad and ass. But these days, people used badass to call someone who are fearless, tough, or independent as the representation of the slaves that are brave enough to stand for themselves back then.

DEADPOOL : "Turns out Domino's a bit of a badass, and maybe, possibly mildly lucky.

In this scene, badass is used to call someone who have done something really good or impressive. Deadpool referred Domino as a badass because out of all the participation who joined his team, she was the one who stayed alive when the other failed the mission. Vanessa and Deadpool were planning to have a baby and started their new family. In this scene, Deadpool was busy thinking about the name of the kid but Vanessa told him that they had to make it first. The word cowboy in this dialogue was only used as a nick name to call his boyfriend. It has nothing to do with being a real cowboy.

4.2.1.16 Holy

A long time ago the word “holy” was used as a sacred name where it had something to do with God. However, since our society today is much more secular and the commandment not to use the Lord’s name in vain has little authority, exclaiming “Jesus Christ!” when you see something dismaying is no longer shocking and just considered as a usual thing that people normally do.

These days, the taboo words are more likely to be vulgarisms than profanities. So the language kept the the form “holy (something)” but replaced the sacred name with the vulgarism “shit” or “fuck” so the exclamation still has the desired emotional punch. Swearing in this way also sounded a lot more polite and could avoid an actual offense.

DEADPOOL : “Holy shit pickles! That guy's on fire. That's not CGI, folks. He's actually on fire.”

Due to the loss of fear and influence by the church in our lives, the idea of asking God to condemn anyone or anything has lost its true meaning. Today we use Goddamn merely for emphasis or to express displeasure, anger, or surprise.

CABLE : "I'm retrieving something from my utility bag.

JEREMY : "It's a goddamn fanny pack... and you know it,

This was at the beginning of the scene where Deadpool was having monologue by himself, explaining the reason why he took a cat-nap which means a quick sleep.

4.2.1.27 I am Dying

The word dying comes from its original word “die” which means one existance is no longer alive and through this process it's often painful and hurt so people usually use this term to exaggerate their words as if they are really strunggling. Similiar with how people choose the word starving instead of hungry in order to emphasis their feeling.

In this scene, Deadpool was talking by himself but it was as if he was having a conversation with Wolverine. The word “I'm dying”

People often associate something dirty with something bad. Usually when something is dirty, it must be bad. So, fight dirty in slang word means fight unfairly or cheating. Even if that means breaking the rules.

COLOSSUS : “It's time to fight dirty. Hey! Pick on someone your own size!”

4.2.1.32 Types of Imitative and Clipping

The type of imitative and clipping in slang words happens due to a constriction. The reason why people are more comfortable using contraction is because sometimes it is difficult to quickly turn the vocal cords on and off. It is easier to do for such sounds to roll off, which is called an assimilation. Assimilation is a sound change where some phonemes (typically consonants or vowel) change to be more similiar to other nearby sounds. This type of slang word was found in the movie shown in the dialogue below.

DEADPOOL : "I'll ask the questions. Let me talk to the kid."

RUSSEL : "You wanna die?"

The word "want to" in this dialogue merge together and become "wanna" because the "t" sound kind of join up in order to make the pronunciation much easier. Instead of painstakingly breathing out every single syllable clearly. Assimilation occurred in this dialogue and it becomes more common in more rapid speech. The other word that is similar with this case found in the movie are gonna, gotta, and imma.

English native speakers tend to push everything together and try to reduce the amount of work they put their lips and tongue through when spitting out those words. Certain expressions are so well known or frequently used in daily conversation that there is no problem with missing some of them out. English native speaker prefers saying things in shorter ways if possible.

The second related to the way "stress" works in English. They stress the words important for meaning and minimize the one that form the structure of the grammar since it is easy to understand for another native speaker. It is convenient and a faster way to get the point across the native English speaker.

ALTHEA : “Sometimes, it's so bad, we feel like we're dying. But we can't really live till we've died a little, can we? Wade? Wade?”

DEADPOOL : “I'm right here, Althea. And that is the most beautiful thing I've ever heard.”

In this dialogue, Althea dropped the sound and change the word from “until” into “till” in order to move through these words more quickly. The other similiar words found in the movie are coz, gotcha jeez, -ya, -da, -em, omg, gangsta, fella, perv, and dumbass. This case happened because these words just are not as important as the other words in the sentence, so they make them less obvious.

4.2.2 Types of Slang

Slang words found in the movie categorized into several types. Those are fresh and creative, flippant, imitative, clipping, and acronym. Fresh and creative is when the slang words has imagination, cleverness, informal variety, new vocabulary, or an up to date words. Some words which are already familiar with our mind possibly will be slang words as we not realize it. The reason why those slang words become famililar in our mind because those slang words have already appeared since a long time ago. The example of slang words being fresh is when they come from a new words that are not exist before (i.e. dumbass, badass, goddamn, etc) and creative is when it comes from an existing words but acquire a new meaning which is different from its original meaning (i.e. baby, fuck, holy, shank, etc).

The second types of slang words is flippant. Slang words who are classified as flippant are slang which consists of two or more words and the words composed are not correlated with the denotative meaning. Most of the words found in the table are consist of two or more words such as at the end of rope, as fuck, beat it, blow and go, cool your jets, dick slapped, do not give a fuck, pull something off, ride a coattails, rock bottom, shiny jesus, son of bitch, the piece of shit, throw a bone, what a dick, what in the ass, what the hell, etc.

The third types of slang words is imitative. Imitative comes from the word imitating which means the slang words imitated or derived from the Standard English (SE) word that became contracted into a shorter form by combining two different words. For instance, the slang word “gonna” is from the words “going to”. Both of the words have the same exact meaning, only the form changed. The same thing happened with gotta (got to), wanna (want to), imma (i am going to).

The fourth types of slang words is clipping. Clipping is type of slang words where it is made by deleting some parts from longer word become a shorter form. Eventhough the form is no longer same, but the meaning is exactly the same. For instance, the word “till” is from “until”. Despite having a different form, it has the exact similiar meaning. The other examples are coz (because), fella (fellow), gangsta (gangster), gotcha (got you), jeez (jesus), perv (pervert), -da (would have), -em (them), -ya (you). However, type of clipping slang words are not appropriate to use in formal conversation or writing.

The last types of slang words is acronym. Acronym is type of slang constructed by the result of words from the first letters of each word in a phrase. This type is made by the initials from a group of words or syllables. For instance, the word OMG is the acronym form of Oh My God. This type of slang is often used by teenagers when they are having a communication with their friends on the internet or social media. This kind of slang make them easier to communicate because it is faster and easier to use.
